Building Community Trust Is Key to Improving Hate Crime Reporting

"We Can't Do Anything About the Crimes We Don't Know About"

In FBI field offices nationwide, agents and community outreach specialists are working every day to address the barriers that prevent people from reporting hate crimes. Investigators and victim specialists say those barriers can include mistrust of law enforcement, worry about immigration status, not knowing how to report, and not believing the report will be treated seriously.

This fall, the FBI launched a national campaign with billboards, ads, and radio spots that seek to build awareness around how to report a hate crime to the FBI. The ads were put out in dozens of languages and customized to local communities.

Building trust within those communities so individuals feel comfortable reporting is the second—and far harder—part of the task. "It's something we work on every day," said Special Agent Kyle Bie-

Drew Mason, 38, Shutters Mill Lane Knoxville, was charged with Man/Sell/Dell/Resale Sch. I, Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss. Of Meth, Simple Possession, Poss. of Drug Para., Contraband in Penal Institution, Driving on Revoked/Suspended License, Altering/Falsifying or Forging Auto Title, and Convicted Felon in Possession of Firearm.

Deputy B. Peagler with the Blount County Sheriff's Office was patrolling in Loudon County for Mutual Aid and observed a disabled vehicle on the entrance ramp to Interstate 40 West from Watt Road. As he was informing the Loudon County dispatch that he would be assisting the vehicle, identified as a gray Ford Taurus, he noticed that the registration plate was not properly displayed on the vehicle. The registration plate was positioned in the rear window of the vehicle. As Deputy approached the vehicle, he observed that the registration plate had been altered from 08A C68 to 08A 068 with the C being altered to display a 0 by using electrical tape. Deputy Peagler checked the driver of the vehicle, identified as Drew Mason, for a valid Tennessee Driver's License and determined that his driving privileges were suspended in Tennessee. Deputy Peagler asked Mr. Mason about the firearm cases that he could see in the backseat of the vehicle and Mr. Mason admitted that he had been convicted of four felonies. Mr. Mason was placed under arrest and transported to the Loudon County Jail. The vehicle was inventoried prior to being released to Moneymaker's Towing, and a .22 caliber rifle was recovered along with a glass pipe with narcotic residue, a small plastic bag containing what was identified as Heroin, and a crowbar believed to be used as a tool to commit offenses of burglary. Upon arriving at the jail, found on Mr. Mason during booking were approximately 0.5 grams of methamphetamine, approximately 0.5 grams of Fentanyl, and a cut straw.

rents of opposition that are slowly wearing away at your psyche. Make sure that you don't fall into the trap of feeling guilt or regret. These are useless emotions that you simply can do without. If people are being negative or unreasonable, simply walk away from the situation and find a better one.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

There are forces working in your favor that you should be sure to latch onto and take advantage of, Pisces. You'll find that your sense of duty and ability to plan are paying off in a very positive way. You'll find that you're able to check quite a few things off your list today. Think before you act and take a time-out to rest and regroup if you need to.

Aries 3/21-4/19

Missed connections and unfortunate misunderstandings will happen less frequently if you slow down and focus. Remember that you can do things yourself, Aries. Don't feel like you absolutely need approval from others before tackling the projects that you wish to complete. Your mind is urging you to take the initiative today, so feel free to do so. Just make sure you aren't too hasty in your actions. You'll be more productive if you think before you act.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Things that require restriction and discipline on your part may be causing tension and opposition in your world today, Taurus. The good news is that your mind is clear and you should feel in tune with the people around you. Know your allies and take care of them. Remind others of how much they mean to you. The most important aspects of your life are your friends and family, so treat them with unconditional love.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Your internal fire may be feeling a bit smothered by a fierce reality check today, Gemini. Give people the benefit of the doubt. They are more perceptive than you may think. In fact, it may behoove you to get some honest feedback today from some people you trust. It could be difficult for you to sort out the truth in your present situation, since you're the one caught in the middle of the maelstrom. Consider the perspective of another.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Careful planning on your part is starting to pay off, Cancer, but be careful that you don't alienate others in your quest to be the best. You may not realize how your harsh words affect the people around you. Be more sensitive to the feelings of others. Focus and be brave in your actions. Hesitation may cause you to lose control of the situation. Know your boundaries, but push beyond them.

Leo 7/23-8/22

A little foreign culture could be the thing you need right now to spice things up a bit, Leo. It could be that you aren't feeling a very strong connection with the environment around you. You could be anxious to spread your wings and explore your freedom. Start small but think big. Get out of your rut and do more exploring on your own. There's a sobering, disciplined feeling to the day that could help you think realistically about your situation and where you want to go with it.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Some days it may be hard for you to get motivated, Virgo, but if ever there were a day in which it was easier than others, this would be the day. You'll find that your mind is quite attuned to the situation around you and that your sense of grounding is helping you manifest that which you wish to bring to life. There's a sense of time restriction and limitation to the day that is prodding you to act now.

Libra 9/23-10/22

You may feel a bit of restriction working to hold you back from your current plans today, Libra. It could be that your mind is feeling restless and that you're anxious to go, but there's a feeling of discipline and caution nagging you and urging you to slow down. This might not be a bad idea. Discipline and willpower may be exactly the things you need in order to get where you're going.

You'll find that your sense of duty and need for plans and solid goals are key elements for getting to where you need to be. Gather information and create a plan of attack that is well thought out.

Sagittarius

11/22-12/21

Today is a good day to be receptive to other people's energies, Sagittarius. You'll find that a sensitive attitude toward the people around you, combined with a bit of hard work and willingness to fulfill your responsibilities, will make for an unstoppable winning combination. You have the power of discipline behind you that will help you manifest quite a bit on a day like today. Keep in mind that your openness to others and your incredible sensitivity are some of your greatest gifts. Use your power to create prosperity for yourself, but do it without hurting or manipulating others.

DUI

Bruce Beasley, 36, Angel Road Loudon, was charged with DUI, and Violation of Implied Consent.

Deputy Bengel LCSO, was driving on West on Hwy 11. Deputy passed a white VW wagon that was parked on the shoulder of the Hwy at Browder Hollow Rd. Deputy turned around to check on the VW but it had already pulled off from the shoulder and it passed him while it continued West towards Loudon. The VW crossed the center line multiple times driving into the oncoming lane. Deputy turned back around in an attempt to catch back up the the VW. When Deputy caught up the VW it at a gravel pull off at Hwy 11 at Memorial Gardens. Deputy checked out with the VW and driver, Bruce Beasley. Upon first contact Deputy observed Beasley to have bloodshot watery eyes and had a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage coming from his person. Beasley stated that he had several drinks and had left the Cotton Eyed Joe in Knoxville. Beasley was asked out of the car and was observed to be unsteady on his feet. When asked, Beasley stated it was 2am when it was in actually 4am, he was also unaware of the day of the week. Beasley originally consented to SFSTs and performed poorly on HGN. While Deputy started on WAT Beasley began too soon and when Deputy asked him to get back into the starting position he stated multiple times that he had been drinking and refused all other SFSTs. Due to the totality of the circumstances, Beasley was taken into custody for DUI. Deputy read the TN Implied Consent Ad- visement to Beasley to which he refused. While inventory- ing the VW for tow, Deputy observed both passenger side tires to be flat. The front wheel was destroyed from being driv- en on with a flat for too long. Beasley was then transported to the Loudon County Jail, where he was charged with DUI and Violation of Implied Consent. Said events ocured in Loudon County, TN.

Biesheimer, one of the hate crimes coordinators in the FBI San Francisco Field Office. "Trying to identify those communities where we can make a difference. Reach out to those communities. Build trust with those communities."

Those aims led to a virtual meeting this summer between FBI San Francisco and Russell Jeung, a sociology professor at San Francisco State University and one of the founders of Stop AAPI Hate. Stop AAPI Hate was launched in March 2020 to track and respond to the steep increase in racist incidents directed at the Asian American and Pacific Islander communities after the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Most of the incidents recorded by the Stop AAPI Hate involved hate speech, which is often hurtful and traumatizing but does not in and of itself violate the law. But Jeung also said that the organization was getting a large number of reports of vandalism, destruction of property, and violent assaults that should be investigated by law enforcement.

The FBI defines a hate crime as a criminal offense against a person or property motivated in whole or in part by an offender's bias against a race, religion, disability, sexual orientation, ethnicity, gender, or gender identity.

"As investigators, we can't do anything about the crimes we don't know about. We have to get better."

Kyle Biesheimer, special agent, FBI San Francisco

Months later, the statistics collected by the FBI would show the reports coming into Stop AAPI Hate were no anomaly. The 2020 hate crime statistics showed 8,052 single-bias incidents involving 11,126 victims.

These numbers are the highest since 2008 and showed an increase in crimes targeting Black, Asian, and Jewish individuals.

It is also highly likely that these numbers represent an incomplete count, in part because law enforcement agencies are encouraged to report these numbers but are not required to do so, and also because so many victims never come forward.

Among Jeung's recommendations for addressing the reporting gap were to show how reporting makes a difference, recruit more FBI agents and personnel from diverse backgrounds, and use Asian-language media to encourage reporting. The professor was also able to explain the roots of racism against Asians and offer other suggestions for improving relationships.

"Many communities don't always feel comfortable coming forward to law enforcement. That's a big problem for us," said Biesheimer. "As investigators, we can't do anything about the crimes we don't know about. We have to get better."

That commitment is echoed by FBI Supervisory Special Agent Daudshah Andish, the program coordinator for the Civil Rights Division in San Francisco. It's why his squad assigned agents to be dedicated hate crime coordinators—and why he sees their work as an essential part of the FBI's mission to defend civil rights.

"Hate crimes are not only an attack on the victim, but they also threaten and intimidate the entire community," Andish said. "Everybody should be able to get out of their houses, enjoy the public spaces, and go about their business without any fear of violence or retribution."
