CDC Data Released Ahead of National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day Highlights Factors that Contribute to Continuing HIV Disparities in the U.S.

Despite overall progress in reducing HIV transmission in the United States, HIV continues to affect some groups more than others due to longstanding and ingrained barriers. Black or African American (hereafter referred to as Black) people account for a higher proportion of new HIV infections, compared to other races and ethnicities. Black people accounted for 13% of the U.S. population but 40% of people with HIV in 2019, according to CDC estimates.

HIV disparities can and must end. Racism, longstanding systemic inequities, social and economic marginalization, residential segregation, unequal reach of HIV prevention and treatment, and higher levels of HIV in some communities are among the factors that have contributed to these troubling and persistent disparities.

A CDC report published today, ahead of National Black HIV/AIDS Awareness Day on February 7, finds 52% of Black adults with diagnosed HIV resided in areas in the country with higher Social Vulnerability Index (SVI) scores—often residentially segregated communities comprised predominately of Black people. The report underscores the continuing, urgent need to address the social determinants that contribute to disparities and better deliver HIV prevention and care to people who need it most.

A separate report by New York State health officials and CDC found, in the state of New York, that COVID-19 vaccination coverage was lower among adults with HIV than the general adult population; and that Black people with HIV were among groups with the lowest COVID-19 vaccination coverage. People engaged in HIV care were more likely to be vaccinated than people not engaged in HIV care. The report emphasizes the need for interventions to help people with HIV get into and stay in HIV care, get vaccinated, and stay up-to-date on COVID-19 vaccines according to CDC guidelines.

To achieve health equity and end the HIV epidemic, the nation must overcome barriers that, for far too long, have stood between some people and highly effective HIV prevention and treatment tools. CDC is working with partners on many fronts, and through the federal Ending the HIV Epidemic in the U.S. external icon initiative, to focus resources to communities that could most benefit from key, science-based HIV treatment and prevention strategies that are scaled up in innovative ways to reach populations equitably.

Please attribute the following quote to Demetre Daskalakis, MD, MPH, Director of CDC's HIV Prevention Program

“Despite tremendous progress in reducing HIV transmission since the height of the epidemic, HIV continues to disproportionately affect Black people in America. Health disparities are not inevitable and can be addressed. The advanced, highly effective HIV prevention and treatment tools and COVID-19 vaccines that have been accessed by some must be accessible to all. While there is no simple solution to equity, our nation must finally tear down the wall of factors—systemic racism, homophobia, transphobia, HIV-related stigma, and other ingrained barriers—that still obstructs these tools against HIV and COVID-19 from equitably reaching the people who could benefit from them.”

Meth

Cathy Hamby, 58, New Midway Road Kingston, was charged with DUI, Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss. of Meth, and Driving on Roadways Laned for Traffic.

Deputy Rogers LCSO, observed a dark colored SUV fail to merge from Hwy 11 onto Kingston Pike. Instead, the vehicle continued to the traffic light and came to a complete stop while the light was green. Deputy also noted the vehicle was failing to maintain its lane. Deputy initiated a traffic stop in the area of Watt Rd and made contact with the driver, Ms. Cathy Hamby, who had constricted pupils and a blank stare. Deputy had Ms. Hamby exit the vehicle at which time she did give consent to search her purse. The search revealed 1 gram of meth in a small container and another container with meth residue. Ms.

Hamby stated she was coming from the very back of Thurman Circle, where she just recently smoked meth, and was going to her house in Kingston although it was the opposite direction. Ms. Hamby did consent to SFST/ARIDE testing and did not perform satisfactory, see case notes. Based on the totality of the circumstance I took the offender into custody for DUI and Possession of Meth. Deputy supplied and explained TN Implied Consent to Ms. Hamby who did consent to a blood draw. Ms. Hamby was transported to the Fort Loudoun ER where the blood draw was conducted and then to the Loudon County Jail. Said did occur in Loudon County, TN.

pride. Don't let that stop you, though. If you recognize a situation where you can be of assistance, go for it. Don't wait for an invitation or request. Simply take hold of the circumstances and do what you can. Your efforts will be appreciated and you'll leave feeling terrific that you could make a difference.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

When was the last time you used a pen and paper, Pisces? In this age of computers, the keyboard has all but replaced these wonderful tools. In the same way that walking provides much more than fresh air, the kinesthetic value of the rhythmic motion of writing with a pen is far more soothing and even healing than most realize. Moving your hand across the page can feel good and unlock places within you that aren't accessed by typing. Try it today.

Aries 3/21-4/19

Today may bring a keen sense of empathy and understanding, Aries. With this, verbal communication is also more likely to be effective. Consider seizing this energy by making a point of talking through any problems or issues you have with those in your life. If they don't live with you, see about driving over to visit them or calling them up to work things out. If there isn't anything pressing, see about expressing your affection for those closest to you by telling them straight out what they mean to you.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Don't be surprised if you find your mind going a thousand miles a minute today, Taurus. Slowing down will likely elude you and you'll have to find one means or another to express what's racing around in your head. The aspects today lend much to communication. Perhaps talking over your writing or ideas with someone whose insight you value will do the trick. Even doodling can give you a place to put your thoughts. Explore these activities today.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Welcome to another great day, Gemini. The energy from the day's aspects is positive and encouraging when it comes to communication and interaction with others. Why not take advantage of this? Get together to visit with friends and family and enjoy yourself. Consider inviting people over for a game or dinner. Even a potluck can be a lot of fun. You work hard all the time, so play hard today!

Cancer 6/21-7/22

You might find yourself really interested in getting out and doing something today, Cancer. And why not? It can't be too difficult to phone a few friends and arrange to get together in the evening. Or perhaps you can look in the events page in your local newspaper and see whether a meeting or lecture is taking place that you'd like to attend. Is there a place you've been curious about and wanted to visit? If so, go there today and check it out. Make the best of your time!

Leo 7/23-8/22

Consider channeling your philosophical inspirations into some creative writing, Leo. You'll certainly enjoy this type of activity. Even if you haven't explored this before, there's no better day than today to give it a whirl. Why not start a journal if you haven't done so already? This will give your ideas a place to incubate, and it can become a starting point for further reflection. Or you could try your hand at poetry and fiction instead.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

You might feel the need for some time to yourself today, Virgo. And why not take it?

Chances are you're surrounded by others most of the time, and when you don't take time to be alone with your thoughts and feelings, it can prove unhealthy for you. Taking care of your emotional well-being is critical, as you have a deeply sensitive nature. With continuous activity around you, there's no time to connect with this part of you. Make time today.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Today you may want to go your own way regardless of what someone else wants, Libra. Your independence is very important to you. However, compromise might be necessary in order to avoid serious conflict. Consider splitting your day to allow for the wishes of those close to you and time for yourself. If you can't make others understand why you want to be alone, this might be the best solution.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Today may well find you in the mood to head out on a venture or visit someone, Scorpio. When was the last time you took a day for something like this? Chances are it's been too long. Not only will you enjoy it but others will be thrilled to have some time with you as well. Whether you pack up the whole family or head out on your own, seize the opportunity to visit a new place or connect with people you haven't seen in a while.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Serious thinking and communication will be enhanced today, Sagittarius. These are strong qualities for you anyway, and with this added boost, you'll need to have a place to express yourself. If you've started a journal, this can prove to be an excellent outlet. Talking with other people is another. If there are issues or worries that have been bothering you, consider getting together with those involved and airing what's on your mind. It's a perfect day to get things resolved.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

You might feel cornered into doing something you just don't want to do today, Capricorn. Perhaps you made a promise to handle a project, or someone close to you has decided that it's the day to tackle something specific. Either way, if you're uncomfortable following through, communicate that to this person. Your ability to express yourself and be understood is enhanced with this day's energy. Rescheduling might be far better than any potential resentment.
