Approximately 2.55 Million Students Reported Currently Using a Tobacco Product in 2021

Youth tobacco product use remains a serious public health concern during COVID-19 pandemic

The 2021 National Youth Tobacco Survey (NYTS) was conducted among U.S. middle and high school students during the COVID-19 pandemic and revealed that youth tobacco use remains a serious public health concern. About 2.55 million U.S. middle and high school students reported current (past 30-day) use of a tobacco product in 2021, according to new data released in today's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Because of the implementation of COVID-19 protocols across the country when the 2021 NYTS was conducted (January 18-May 21, 2021), the survey was administered online to allow eligible students to complete the survey at home, school, or somewhere else. While we remain confident in our study results, the reporting of tobacco use might differ by the setting where the survey was completed. Therefore, these results cannot be compared with results from previous NYTS surveys that were primarily conducted on school campuses.

Kevin Kight, 40, Braswell Lake Road Georgia, was charged with DUI, Lights Required on Motor Vehicle, and Violation of Implied Consent.

Officer Eldridge LCPD, was traveling North on Highway 321 when he observed a black Dodge Ram (GA RQR9942) traveling Southbound on Highway 321 with no headlights on at a high rate of speed. Officer immediately turned around and caught up to the truck in front of the Lenoir City Police Dept. and activated his emergency equipment in an attempt to initiate a traffic stop. The truck continued all the way down to the McDonalds before finally pulling over into the parking lot, still with no lights on. Officer then made contact with the driver (Kevin Kight), and immediately noticed the smell of alcohol emanating from inside the vehicle. Kight was asked to step out of the vehicle and was very unsteady on his feet while exiting and standing next to the vehicle. Kight also had a slurred speech and bloodshot, watery eyes. Officers asked Kight if he had been drinking and replied that he only had one beer earlier at a friends in Farragut. Kight was asked if he would consent to a Field Sobriety Test, in which he refused both that, and a blood and or breath test. Kight was taken into custody at that time without incident. Upon an inventory of the vehicle, Officers found a six pack of Smirnoff (3 missing) and a six pack of Bud light (4 missing) and a mason jar containing what was believed to be moonshine. The truck was impounded by Moneymakers and Kight was transported to the Loudon Co Jail and charged with Driving under the Influence, Implied Consent, and a Light Law violation. This did occur in Lenoir City, Loudon Co, TN.

lyzed data from the 2021 NYTS. Among middle and high school students who currently used tobacco products about 1 in 3 (860,000) used at least one type of combustible tobacco product, and about 3 in 10 (740,000) used two or more tobacco products.

As previously reported, e-cigarettes were the most common tobacco product currently used among middle and high school students (2.06 million) in 2021. This was followed by cigarettes (410,000), cigars (380,000), smokeless tobacco (240,000), hookahs (220,000), nicotine pouches (200,000), heated tobacco products (170,000), and pipe tobacco (80,000).

“Youth use of tobacco products is unsafe in any form – combustible, smokeless, or electronic,” said Karen Hacker, M.D., M.P.H., director of CDC’s National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion. “This report provides critical insights needed to combat this serious public health concern and help protect our nation’s youth from the harmful effects of tobacco.”

Disparities Persist Among Subgroups

Among middle and high school students combined, current use of any tobacco product was higher among students who identified as lesbian, gay, or bisexual (14.2%) than those who identified as heterosexual (7.9%) and those who were “not sure” about their sexual identity (5.5%); and higher among students who identified as transgender (18.9%) compared to those not transgender (8.2%) or not sure (9.1%).

Current use of any tobacco product was higher among students who had severe (14.2%), moderate (11.2%), or mild (9.6%) symptoms of psychological distress compared to those with no psychological distress (5.5%).

Additionally, among all race and ethnicity groups, non-Hispanic Black students reported the highest prevalence of current combustible tobacco product use (5.2%), and specifically cigar use (3.1%). While youth use of tobacco products in any form is unsafe, the death and disease from tobacco product use in the United States is primarily caused by combustible tobacco products.

Many factors influence youth tobacco product use

Multiple factors continue to promote tobacco product use and initiation among youth, including flavors, marketing, and misperceptions of harm.

Among the approximately 2.55 million middle and high school students who currently used any tobacco product, most (about 8 in 10 or 1.95 million) reported using flavored tobacco product(s) in the past 30 days.

Approximately 76% of students in 2021 reported exposure to tobacco product marketing through traditional media (e.g., newspapers or magazines), and approximately 74% of students who used social media had ever seen e-cigarette-related posts or content.

Among students who had ever used e-cigarettes, peer use and curiosity were the most cited reasons for first trying e-cigarettes in 2021. However, among students who currently used e-cigarettes, the most cited reasons for use were feelings of anxiety, stress, or depression and the “high or buzz” associated with nicotine use. Importantly, nicotine withdrawal is commonly accompanied by symptoms of anxiety and depression, and temporary relief of these symptoms through use of a nicotine-containing product might perpetuate continued nicotine use.

Among the approximately 2.55 million students who currently used any tobacco product, 65.3% reported that they were seriously thinking about quitting all tobacco products. In addition, 60.2% of students who currently used tobacco products reported that they stopped using all tobacco products for 1 or more days during the past 12 months because they were trying to quit.

“The 2021 NYTS findings include important new information about youth tobacco use behaviors and associated factors that will help the FDA evaluate, design, and implement our tobacco regulatory and educational programs,” said Mitch Zeller, J.D., Director of FDA’s Center for Tobacco Products. “It’s revealing that about two-thirds of current youth users expressed a desire to quit tobacco products and that three-quarters of youth reported having seen or heard a tobacco prevention ad. But the 2021 use data are still concerning and will be valuable for policymakers and educators committed to protecting the next generation from tobacco-related disease and death.”

Assault

Marty Mills, 39, Mealer Road Lenoir City, was charged with Domestic Assault, and Public Intoxication.

Deputy S. Mills LCSO, responded to Mealer Road for a possible domestic disturbance. Before arrival, Deputy D. Harrison met with the possible offender, later identified as Marty Mills, walking down the roadway in the 400 block of Highway 70. While Deputy Harrison was interviewing Marty, Deputy Mills went to speak with the victim/reporting party.

Victim informed Deputy that Marty had become incredibly irritated and threatened to cause physical harm to her. Victim said that his statements put her in fear for her safety. She also asserted that Marty also grabbed victim by the face. Victim further asserted that Marty, who she affords the opportunity to allow him to sleep in her car with her due to their house being in a recent fire, called his own 82-year-old mother derogatory terms. Marty also made fun of her for opening her legs up to so many guys. Victim then informed Deputy that Marty's actions not only put her in fear for her safety but his words made her sad.

When Deputy spoke with Marty after Deputy left his mother's property, Deputy informed him he was under arrest and placed him in handcuffs. Deputy noticed the odor of an alcoholic beverage emitting from his person while speaking with him. While speaking with him about the alleged actions, he became angry when Deputy told him he was under arrest for domestic assault due to the fact that he did not grab her face this evening that was a couple of days ago and it was unfair he was going to jail now. He was adamant that he should not be going to jail and did not believe Deputy when he informed him that his mother called in on him. Deputy spoke with Deputy Harrison and he informed him that Marty performed poorly on field sobriety and was publicly intoxicated. Deputy then transported him to Loudon County Detention Facility without further incident where he is being charged with Domestic Assault (T.C.A §39-13-101) and Public Intoxication (T.C.A §39-17-310).

mail service. You might be turning your thoughts now to new projects. While you have a lot of ideas, you aren't likely to make firm decisions today.

Aries 3/21-4/19

Relationships with others are important to you, Aries. As a result, you've learned to be polite and congenial. Social engagements today could give you a chance to use your people skills. You could not only make some new friends but also valuable contacts. These activities could keep you away from home and family longer than you'd like, but you'll end the day with a strong sense of accomplishment.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

A powerful sense of inspiration could come from within today, Taurus. You might want to write down your thoughts or draw the pictures that pop into your head. However, social obligations, possibly parties or visits, could interfere with putting your ideas on paper. You could also feel especially attuned to the thoughts and feelings of others, although you might not like what you're picking up!

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Group activities could take up a lot of your time and energy today, perhaps too much. Your career concerns are very much on your mind, and you don't like being distracted from them. Nonetheless, these activities, not to mention your family, are important to you, Gemini, and you'll find a way to squeeze them in even though it's frustrating. Remember, this isn't a good day to push yourself too hard!

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Work could be a real drag today, Cancer. You might be expected to put in more hours than normal. Your heart isn't in it right now.

You have interests of your own that you'd rather pursue, plus you could be planning to get together with friends or your partner later. It's best to finish everything quickly, perhaps postponing nonessential tasks, and then go and enjoy yourself.

Leo 7/23-8/22

Body and soul might seem out of balance today. A part of you may long to break from society and live a more spiritual life, but worldly responsibilities and an attachment to your current lifestyle could get in your way. These things don't happen overnight, Leo. You have to let them develop in their own way, in their own time. Right now, find balance between the spiritual and the material.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Strain within a group that you're associated with could be traced to money problems. Perhaps people are disagreeing over what needs to be done regarding fundraising or budgetary limitations. It's best to divorce yourself from this sort of thing if possible, Virgo. It's draining. Strange, vivid dreams might haunt your sleep tonight, but don't read too much into them. They aren't the kind with any special significance.

Libra 9/23-10/22

You may get a chance to make some extra money today, perhaps by working overtime. However, this might interfere with a social event that you've committed to, and could cause disappointment among your friends and family members. It could also give rise to a little trouble with your partner. However, remind yourself that this disappointment will pass, and the money will be more than welcome. Hang in there!

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Although it looks as if the next few months should shape up to be a great time for your career, Scorpio, unfortunately, today it might appear hopeless. Mundane, routine, unrewarding tasks could take up a lot of your time on the job today. Nevertheless, don't let the frustration interfere with your outlook for the future. You're due for advancement in some way!

Sagittarius

11/22-12/21

Your heart is longing for a romantic encounter tonight, Sagittarius, and the partner in your life is more than willing to accommodate you. Nonetheless, circumstances beyond your control could interfere with your plans, and you might not be able to make contact tonight. This could bring frustration, dissatisfaction, and maybe even a little friction between you. Don't panic, though. It will pass, probably by tomorrow.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

Conflict between your responsibilities at home and career obligations, particularly those involving partners, could pose a problem today, Capricorn. The problem isn't insurmountable, but does call for honest, open communication among all parties involved. You won't be happy at having to make a choice, and may find the two duties difficult to balance right now. Give it your best. By tomorrow things should be back to normal.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Communication problems might arise on the job. Perhaps a co-worker is in a bad mood and unreceptive to anything you say. Or perhaps the phones are out or the computers down. This could prove frustrating, Aquarius, and might interfere with relations among staff members. A phone call from a close friend or lover could go astray but reach you at the last minute. Don't worry; you'll still have a great evening!
