One Family, Two Trailblazers

Sister and Brother Who Worked for FBI, NASA Achieved Lifelong Dreams

As a child, Paula Smith spent countless hours in the store her grandmother owned, making change for customers—and eyeing the gun under the counter. “It was open late at night,” Paula said about the store, which had its share of robberies and break-ins. “That got me interested in law enforcement.”

Later in life, Paula dreamed of being an FBI agent but batted the idea away; women weren’t allowed to become special agents. So, Paula went to law school. She knew the FBI hired lawyers—even female ones.

But policies changed in 1972, and the FBI began accepting female agent applicants. Paula applied for the special agent job while continuing to pursue the legal work that never quite thrilled her.

Then, in the span of a week, Paula received three job offers: the Judge Advocate General’s Corps with the Navy; a position in her local district attorney’s office; and the FBI Academy to be a special agent. It didn’t take her long

Charged

Robert Monahan, 37, Laredo Drive Georgetown, was charged with Man/Sell Del/Resale Sch. II, Financial Responsibility Law, and Driving on Revoked/Suspended License.

Ashley Morgan, 33, Laredo Drive Georgetown, was charged with Contraband in Penal Institution, and Poss. Of Drug Para.

Officer Eldridge LCPD, was patrolling Hwy 321

when he observed a white Buick with an expired registration (E300394) displayed. Officer initiated a traffic stop on Hwy 321 at 75N and made contact with the driver (Monahan) and passenger (Morgan) and immediately noticed the burnt smell of marijuana emanating from the vehicle. Monahan failed to show officers a proof of insurance on the vehicle and a records check revealed him to also have a suspended license. Officers asked both occupants to exit the vehicle and a probable cause search was conducted revealing the following items. A small baggie containing 14, 30mg Oxycodone's, several cut straws containing a powdered residue, small baggies that Monahan admitted to containing Meth, and 2 grinders. Morgan also had cut straws on her person and in her purse. Both occupants were placed into custody and transported to the Loudon Co Jail and the vehicle was impounded by MoneyMakers. While at the jail, Officer found a small, torn baggie in the back seat of the patrol car and small pieces of what appeared to be Meth scattered on the seat. Monahan was mirandized and admitted to officers that the small baggie in the back seat did indeed contain meth. While at the jail, corrections deputies asked Morgan if she had anything illegal on her person and conducted a non-invasive strip search. During the search Deputy Bradshaw saw a blue container and small baggie in her vaginal area. Deputy Bradshaw was able to obtain the items from Morgan.

The baggie contained (14) round green pills, identified as 30 mg Oxycodone. The blue container contained a small baggie with (4) pieces of 2 mg xanax. Ashley Nicole Morgan was found in possession of sch 2 and sch 4 inside the Loudon County Jail where prisoners are quartered and without the express consent of the jail administrator. Ashley Morgan is charged with Introduction of Contraband into a Penal Facility. This did happen in Loudon County, Tn.

Sarah Smallwood, 34, Randolph Road Sweetwater, was charged with Mfg/Del Sale or Poss. Of Meth, Poss. Of Drug Para., and Driving on Revoked License.

Officer R. Miller LCPD, was conducting a patrol in the area of Highway 321 near Highway 70 in Lenoir City, TN. During patrol duties Officer observed a silver in color Mazda sedan traveling south on Highway 321. While observing this vehicle he noticed that the windows on the vehicle were heavily tinted to the point that you could not see into the vehicle.

Officer initiated a traffic stop on the Mazda sedan in the area of Highway 321 and Cut Thru Road in Lenoir City. Upon approach to the vehicle, Officer made contact with the driver Sarah Smallwood. SMALLWOOD appeared nervous throughout the entire traffic stop by not being able to sit or stand still, very fidgety and showed signs of deceptive behavior.

The windows on the vehicle registered at 4% and were checked using my Laser Labs Window Tint Meter, which is an issued piece of equipment through the Lenoir City Police Department. While speaking with, SMALLWOOD, she stated that she did not have a driver's license and stated that her status was suspended.

Dispatch was able to confirm that SMALLWOOD'S was in fact suspended. While conducting his business in regards to writing citations, Officer requested for Deputy C. Gray and his K9 partner Kora to respond to my location to conduct an open-air sniff of the vehicle SMALLWOOD was driving.

On scene, Deputy Gray and K9 kora conducted an open-air sniff of the vehicle where K9 Kora positively alerted to an odor of narcotics coming from inside of the vehicle. A probable cause search of the vehicle revealed (0.50 Grams) of a crystal-like substance believed to be methamphetamine, (1) glass pipe believed to be used to smoke methamphetamine with, (1) cut straw and (1) black digital scale. The items were located in the passenger's seat of the vehicle in a green case next to a purse that SMALLWOOD stated was her. Another glass pipe was located in the back seat.

conclusions based purely on circumstantial evidence. Don't lose sleep over things that you don't even know to be true. Release your stranglehold on certain issues and concentrate on simply rebuilding your own self-confidence.

Leo 7/23-8/22

When it comes to love and romance, you may find yourself in a bit of a pickle, Leo. There's a request for greater commitment now. You may be unsure about how to respond. You may hesitate to give up the sense of freedom that you hold so dear. Recognize the importance of a close connection with one other person. Give yourself the opportunity to experience this kind of intense relationship on a more permanent basis.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Your romantic, sensitive nature comes alive today, Virgo, and you may find yourself searching for the security of a close lover. You're apt to be pickier than usual - not just anyone will do anymore. There is a longing within you for the company of someone who shares your deep intuitive understanding of people, emotions, and life in general. Don't settle for anything less.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Tension in your romantic life is apt to well up today, Libra. More than likely, there are certain responsibilities that you feel you have to attend to that take you away from your intimate experience with another. Whether or not you're currently involved in a romantic partnership, the day's energy is likely to stir up issues regarding love and romance. Try to find a healthy balance between work and play.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

You could be feeling the pressure of time now, Scorpio. At this point in your life you may be more aware than ever of your limited time left on this planet. Perhaps you're thinking more about love and romance and how much they mean to you. Consider the limitations of each, but don't dwell on them. The important thing is to embrace today and make the most of the time and love you have now.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Situations regarding love and romance are likely to get much heavier and more intense now, Sagittarius. Are you ready to make a deeper commitment to the one you love? It may be quite hard for you to make a solid commitment because you could be wary of the freedom you'll lose. Now is the time to face the music and really dedicate yourself to the people who mean the most to you.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

The love and romance department should be going pretty well for you now, Capricorn. This is the time to probe more deeply into your current affair with that person who catches your eye. There's a greater sensitivity to your emotions today, and you could find yourself holding back a bit more than usual. An air of mystery and intrigue will surround you, drawing others toward you like a moth to a candle.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Your incredible passion and creativity are taking center stage, Aquarius. It's also quite possible that there's a great restlessness within you egging you on to take things to the next level. Combine your powers of dedication with your flair for the dramatic to accomplish whatever it is your heart desires. You have the power within you to shine especially bright on a day like today.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

You may be feeling a bit reserved today, Pisces, especially when it comes to issues involving love and romance. Follow your instincts and know that your hesitation isn't unfounded. Sometimes it's good to slow down and question the road you're on. Just don't doubt yourself to the point that you become too frustrated that you can't take the next big step forward.

Aries 3/21-4/19

Reclaim control of things that might be holding you back now, Aries. You may find that there's an element of restriction to the day that's keeping you from getting where you want to be. Try the best you can to relax and stabilize your emotions. Interaction with people who are older and wiser is likely to shed some important perspective on things today. Heed advice from those who have been through similar situations.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Be selective when it comes to expressing your passion today, Taurus. Remember that less is more. You don't have to use a tremendous number of bells and whistles in order to get your point across. Let your actions be minimal but meaningful. You can say a great deal with few words. There's more to your glance than meets the eye. The unwary prey has no chance against your hypnotic stare.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

In general, your spirit is upbeat, freedom loving, and adventurous, Gemini. Today, however, you might find that it's a bit more intense and possibly somber, especially when it comes to romantic issues. This approach to matters of the heart isn't exactly your normal style, but you're apt to find that it's appropriate for your situation now. Make sure you have the right tools for the job at hand.

to decide.

Special Agent Paula Smith started in the San Francisco Division in 1980. Her early years were challenging. She was often the only female agent on her squad. Her motto was to stick with the work: "Once you do your work, they'd accept you," she said.

While Paula was pursuing her dream at the FBI, her brother was pushing for a spot on a space mission, his own lifelong goal. After a series of setbacks and rejections, Steve Smith was accepted into the space program at NASA and flew aboard Space Shuttle Endeavor in September 1994.

Several months later, he was chosen for a mission to service the Hubble Space Telescope. Even more exciting, Steve would get to perform a spacewalk, the official term for leaving the shuttle and physically being out in space.

Astronauts may take five personal items to commemorate a mission, and Steve knew one item he wanted to take.

"To express my gratitude—not only to my sister for her great influence as a trailblazer and a person with grit and fortitude, but also to thank this great organization, the FBI—I decided to fly this FBI flag," he said.

Paula worked at the Office of the General Counsel at FBI Headquarters at the time, and a colleague who ran the FBI Tour got a large flag for Paula to give Steve.

"Everyone thought it would be really cool," said Paula.

On February 11, 1997, the Space Shuttle Discovery launched from Kennedy Space Center in Florida, the FBI flag safely in tow. Steve spent nearly 20 hours in space during the spacewalk—an experience he called "magical."

The shuttle landed on February 21. Tradition holds that every astronaut autographs each personal item that traveled on the flight after landing. The signed flag was originally placed in a special section of the FBI Tour. Today, the flag hangs in the Director's corridor at Headquarters, next to a certificate of authenticity and images from Steve's flight.

The only FBI flag flown in space celebrates its 25th anniversary. The flag hangs in the Director's corridor in HQ. It flew aboard the Space Shuttle Discovery, STS-82, in February 1997. The flag measures 53" long by 66" wide.

Steve Smith wound up going to space two more times for a total of four missions. He ranks in the top 10 of astronauts who have spent the most time performing a spacewalk. He left the Astronaut Corps in 2003.

Paula's career spanned several field office and Headquarters assignments, and she worked nearly every violation. Paula retired in 2005 as an assistant special agent in charge in San Francisco, the same office where her career started.

Over the years, she noticed a change in the agent ranks as more women agents joined—and were accepted. "It's just like a whirlwind, a total opposite. I mean, we were strange when we first came in," said Paula. But seeing more and more female agents throughout her career excited her.

Looking back, Paula and Steve often joke with one another about who had the better career. As with most sibling arguments, this one hasn't been settled.

"For me, it is two of America's best brands," Steve said of NASA and the FBI.
