Bacteria that Causes Rare Disease Melioidosis Discovered in U.S. Environmental Samples

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has identified for the first time in domestic environmental samples the bacteria that causes a rare and serious disease called melioidosis. The bacteria, Burkholderia pseudomallei or B. pseudomallei, was identified through sampling of soil and water in the Gulf Coast region of Mississippi.

It is unclear how long the bacteria has been in the environment and where else it might be found in the U.S.; however, modeling suggests that the environmental conditions found in the Gulf Coast states are conducive to the growth of B. pseudomallei. CDC is alerting clinicians throughout the country of this discovery through a national health advisory, reminding them to be aware of the signs and symptoms of melioidosis and to consider melioidosis in patients that present with symptoms of the disease.

Two unrelated individuals living in close geographic proximity in the Gulf Coast region of the southern United States became sick with melioidosis two years apart—in 2020 and 2022—prompting state health officials and CDC to take samples and test household products, soil, and water in and around both patients' homes, with permission. Three of the samples taken from soil

Deputy Matt Hicks LCSO, observed a maroon Nissan Pathfinder TN registration S7796K pulling into the parking lot of 700 E Broadway (Casey's) being driven by Ronald Yarbrough III who Deputy had prior knowledge to have a revoked driver's license, confirmed through dispatch.

While taking Mr. Yarbrough into custody, Deputy Hicks then found inside of a small sunglass holder, 2 spoons with methamphetamine residue and multiple syringes.

He was then taken into custody and transported to the Loudon County Jail without incident by Cpl. Lance Anderson.

All of this did occur in Loudon County, TN.

Kyndle Allison, 21, Whispering Oaks Drive Loudon, was charged with Domestic Assault, and Resisting Arrest. Officer H. Wilkes LCPD, was dispatched to Whispering Oaks Drive in reference to a 911 cell phone. While enroute to the residence, dispatch informed officers that they could hear someone screaming in the background, and someone yelling for help. Upon arrival, Officer made contact with a female, who he identified to be the complainant. Complainant informed him that there were two individuals upstairs that were getting into an altercation. At that time, a male came downstairs, and Officer identified him to be the victim. The victim informed Officer that he and his girlfriend were getting into an argument, and it became physical when she pushed him, and left a scratch under his right eye. As Officer entered the residence and went upstairs, he observed a female that had barricaded herself in her room, and was screaming that she didn't want to come out. Complainant talked to the female, later identified as KYNDLE ALLISON, and she later opened the door for officers. While speaking to ALLISON, it was apparent that she was intoxicated, with slurred speech and the odor of alcohol omitting from her breath. While questioning ALLISON about the physical altercation, she advised that she pushed victim while arguing about her child. ALLISON was wearing a bathing suit, and was given the option to put more clothing on as she was going to jail. ALLISON began towards her room and attempted to shut the door on officers and began to resist arrest. ALLISON began slapping officers and kicking them, in an attempt to resist. ALLISON was then placed into custody and transported to his patrol vehicle. Officers attempted to have complainant and victim fill out a domestic violence statement, but both parties refused to. ALLISON was then transported to Loudon County Jail without incident. All of the above did occur in Lenoir City, Loudon County, Tennessee.

To the residents of Loudon County.

My name is Amy Langley and I would be honored to have your "Write In" Vote to be your next Loudon County Clerk.

I announced my candidacy last year in May, worked 10 long months to earn your vote and support only to be "challenged" and removed by the State GOP Republican Party. I was wrongfully removed and it was clearly dirty and back door politics. This process secured the Clerk seat for my opponent.

I didn't quit. I am continuing this Election campaign. I am taking a stand for myself, family, friends and every single resident in Loudon County.

I have worked for Loudon County Government for over 17 years. I currently serve as Senior Accounts Payable and Grant Administrator. My years of experience in the Loudon County Government has given me extensive knowledge of local government rules, processes, internal controls and procedures. I have vast experience in County Finances and Local Government Audits. My experience will sustain the integrity of our local government.

I am seeking this office with a true commitment and passion to serve the people of Loudon County. My strong work ethic, dedication, and love for this County will be evident every day as Loudon County Clerk.

With the continued County growth, one goal is to expand and offer services at an additional full time location. This would eliminate the overcrowding and long lines at the current location. Another goal is to provide friendly and efficient services to all residents. My commitment is to work hard and listen to your concerns.

My name will NOT appear on the ballot.

As a "Write In" candidate, voters have the option to click on the Write In under the Clerk tab and type in a name. All "write in" votes will COUNT!

bit of trouble, Leo.
Virgo 8/23-9/22
 Cupid has fired his arrow into your heart today, Virgo, so snuggle up with the object of your desire. You'll feel more sensual and romantic than usual.
Libra 9/23-10/22
 You may feel a bit of a creative block now, Libra, but don't view this as a signal to stop pursuing your artistic goals.
Scorpio 10/23-11/21
 Today is an important day in which you can breathe creative energy into a structured situation, Scorpio. You'll find that bolstering the aesthetics of your surroundings will help inspire you to be more disciplined and eager to keep things neat and tidy.
Sagittarius 11/22-12/21
 Be a bit more selective in terms of where you put your energy today, Sagittarius. Don't waste your time with situations that aren't healthy or conducive to your aims.
Capricorn 12/22-01/19
 Love and romance are coming your way today, but it's important to be practical, Capricorn. Don't take your relationships for granted. Realize that love doesn't necessarily mean that everything is perfect.
Aquarius 1/20-2/18
 You probably should settle down a bit today in the love and romance department, Aquarius. Realize that your relationships with others aren't a show or stage act to perform.

Pisces 2/19-3/20
 Sit back and observe others' behavior today, Pisces. Take a look at the people around you and figure out what makes them tick.
Aries 3/21-4/19
 Your love life might be a little fragile, and you'll find that your partner is more sensitive than usual, Aries. A more caring, emotional approach to a situation will help you form a better connection with your partner.
Taurus 4/20-5/20
 Things in the love and beauty department should be going rather well for you now, Taurus, so it's a good time to make a move toward the object of your desire.
Gemini 5/21-6/20
 Slow down and take a more reserved, sensitive, and calculated approach to things today, Gemini, especially when it comes to matters involving love and beauty.
Cancer 6/21-7/22
 You may be at a rather climactic point now in the department of love and beauty, Cancer. Your creative levels are peaking, and you might feel a strong urge to create something on a giant canvas.

CDC

and puddle water in 2022 tested positive at CDC for B. pseudomallei, indicating bacteria from the environment was the likely source of infection for both individuals and has been present in the area since at least 2020.

Melioidosis is caused by direct contact with B. pseudomallei, which is found in contaminated soil and water. Among the average of 12 melioidosis cases diagnosed in the United States each year, most have occurred in people with recent travel to a country where this bacteria is endemic. Cases of melioidosis have also been linked to contaminated commercial products imported from disease-endemic countries. This recently occurred in 2021 when a cluster of four cases in four states were linked to an imported contaminated aromatherapy spray.

Melioidosis has a wide range of nonspecific symptoms like fever, joint pain, and headaches and can cause conditions that include pneumonia, abscess formation, or blood infections. Worldwide, melioidosis is fatal in 10 - 50% of those infected. B. pseudomallei has historically been found in tropical and sub-tropical areas such as South and Southeast Asia, northern Australia, and parts of Central and South America and Puerto Rico. Given the very small number of cases of melioidosis identified historically in the United States, CDC believes the risk of melioidosis for the general population continues to be very low.

Individuals living in the Gulf Coast of Mississippi and who have health conditions that may put them at higher risk—such as diabetes, chronic kidney disease, chronic lung disease, or excessive alcohol use—should take precautions to protect themselves:

Avoid contact with soil or muddy water, particularly after heavy rains, and protect open wounds with waterproof dressings.

Wear waterproof boots when gardening, doing yard work, or doing agricultural work, which can prevent infection through the feet and lower legs—particularly after flooding or storms.

Wear gloves to protect the hands when working directly with soil.
