Counterfeit Money Leads to New Lenoir City Judge and Drug Bust and More for Duo

Darren Dyer

Lenoir City voters decided that it was time for a change and elected Gregg Harrison to the Judge position. Harrison was basically the only candidate to actually campaign for the job as well. Tom McFarland will be the new chancellor in the district as well replacing 36 year incumbent Frank Williams. New faces will be seen on the Lenoir City School Board as Chris Clabough and Laci Murray won those two spots. In other races here are the numbers along with the judge races as well.

Bacteria that Causes Rare Disease Melioidosis Discovered in U.S. Environmental Samples

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has identified for the first time in domestic environmental samples the bacteria that causes a rare and serious disease called melioidosis. The bacteria, Burkholderia pseudomallei or B. pseudomallei, was identified through sampling of soil and water in the Gulf Coast region of Mississippi.

It is unclear how long the bacteria has been in the environment and where else it might be found in the U.S.; however, modeling suggests that the environmental conditions found in the Gulf Coast states are conducive to the growth of B. pseudomallei. CDC is alerting clinicians throughout the country of this discovery through a national health advisory, reminding them to be aware of the signs and symptoms of melioidosis and to consider melioidosis in patients that present with symptoms of the disease.

Two unrelated individuals living in close geographic proximity in the Gulf Coast region of the southern United States became sick with melioidosis two years apart—in 2020 and 2022—prompting state health officials and CDC to take samples and test household products, soil, and water in and around both patients' homes, with permission. Three of the samples taken from soil

Christopher Beech, 41, New Hwy 68 Sweetwater, was charged with Simple Possession, Driving on Revoked/Suspended License, and, Poss. Of Drug Para.

Leah Nelson, 41, Wood-Pointe Drive Knoxville, was charged with Simple Possession, and Poss. Of Drug Para.

Officer Parmer LCPD, was doing his business checks when Officer observed a silver Honda CRV pull out from behind Tractor Supply and Goodwill. Due to the recent thefts and vandalism to Goodwill, Officer initiated a stop on the vehicle in front of Dominos (131 Kelsey Lane) for further investigation. Officer made contact with the driver, Mr. Christopher Beech and the passenger, Ms. Leah Nelson. Officer ran both Mr. Beech and Ms. Leah through central dispatch to which Mr. Beech came back with a suspended license and Ms. Nelson came back with 3 FTA's out of Knox County. Ms. Nelson was placed into custody, and based of her nervous behavior, consent was requested to search the vehicle, to which she granted. Upon a search, Officer Law recovered a small bag containing approximately .57 grams of Methamphetamine and a glass pipe, commonly used to smoke methamphetamine, with a white, powdery substance inside. The bag was located between the passenger seat and the center console of the vehicle. Mr. Beech was then detained for the remainder of the search.

Ms. Nelson was advised of her Miranda Rights by Officer Law to which she waved; she then informed Officer Law that the narcotics were not hers. Mr. Nelson informed Officer Law that he knew where the narcotics were located inside the vehicle, however, they were not his.

Due to the methamphetamine being readily accessible to both occupants and neither of them claiming ownership, they were both placed into custody and transported to Loudon County Jail without incident.

Horoscopes

Be careful about confronting someone who wants to poke holes in your idealism.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

You're in a unique position to understand all sides of the issues, Virgo. While this is apt to give you a tremendous advantage over those who still have their heads stuck in the sand, this knowledge also gives you a greater responsibility to others.

Libra 9/23-10/22

You may be feeling rather anxious, Libra. Perhaps you have a big date coming up and your mind is buzzing with how to make the best impression.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

This could be one of those days in which you feel like you just can't get anything right, Scorpio. In an effort to appease other people, you may think you have to make some adjustments that make you feel uneasy.

Sagittarius

11/22-12/21

You may feel a need to add some fantasy to your daily routine today, Sagittarius. Do you have someone in mind you'd like Cupid's arrow to strike? Well, don't rely on a cherub to do your work for you.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

Your psychic sense is apt to be keen as you fill your mind with fanciful scenarios, Capricorn. These pictures in your head aren't as farfetched as you might think.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

You may be having a difficult time getting your opinions across to others, Aquarius.

For some, your ideas may seem too self-centered. For others, you may come across as insensitive to the situation.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

The emotional swings that you could feel today might put a damper on your fantasy world, Pisces. Remember that it's up to you to nurture these dreams.

Aries 3/21-4/19

People around you are apt to be touchy, Aries, so be careful how you interact with them. You'll find that they can see beyond any sort of facade and easily detect dissension within the ranks.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

While other people may be confused and distressed, you're actually the one with all the answers, Taurus. Indeed, you're best equipped to deal with the difficult situations that are likely to arise on a day like this.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Be passionate about the thing you love the most, Gemini. Instead of trying to eat every single thing at the buffet table, just pick one or two items that you like the best and eat them with great enjoyment.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

You may feel like a skipping record, Cancer. You've been scratched and mistreated, and now you continue to repeat the same thing over and over until you've driven your point home.

CDC

and puddle water in 2022 tested positive at CDC for B. pseudomallei, indicating bacteria from the environment was the likely source of infection for both individuals and has been present in the area since at least 2020.

Melioidosis is caused by direct contact with B. pseudomallei, which is found in contaminated soil and water. Among the average of 12 melioidosis cases diagnosed in the United States each year, most have occurred in people with recent travel to a country where this bacteria is endemic. Cases of melioidosis have also been linked to contaminated commercial products imported from disease-endemic countries. This recently occurred in 2021 when a cluster of four cases in four states were linked to an imported contaminated aromatherapy spray.

Melioidosis has a wide range of nonspecific symptoms like fever, joint pain, and headaches and can cause conditions that include pneumonia, abscess formation, or blood infections. Worldwide, melioidosis is fatal in 10 – 50% of those infected. B. pseudomallei has historically been found in tropical and sub-tropical areas such as South and Southeast Asia, northern Australia, and parts of Central and South America and Puerto Rico. Given the very small number of cases of melioidosis identified historically in the United States, CDC believes the risk of melioidosis for the general population continues to be very low.

Individuals living in the Gulf Coast of Mississippi and who have health conditions that may put them at higher risk—such as diabetes, chronic kidney disease, chronic lung disease, or excessive alcohol use—should take precautions to protect themselves:

Avoid contact with soil or muddy water, particularly after heavy rains, and protect open wounds with waterproof dressings.

Wear waterproof boots when gardening, doing yard work, or doing agricultural work, which can prevent infection through the feet and lower legs—particularly after flooding or storms.

Wear gloves to protect the hands when working directly with soil.
