Part 2: Making the Team

What does it take to join the FBI's Underwater Search and Evidence Response Team (USERT)?

It's certainly no easy feat—in addition to already being a special agent, USERT hopefuls must be certified divers and have exceptional physical and mental stamina. They must try out for the team and then complete rigorous basic training before embarking on a case.

Eligibility and Tryouts
Supervisory Special Agent Brian Hudson, USERT Program Manager, explained what it takes to qualify: "USERT is open to agents only. Once they are off probation, they are eligible to join. The main requirement is that you have a certification from an accredited diving organization, such as PADI (Professional Association of Diving Instructors) or SSI (Scuba Schools International). As long as you're a certified diver and have completed at least 10 dives, then you can try out for the team."

Jonathan Morgan, 34, Browder Hollow Road Lenoir City, was charged with Man/Sell/Del/Resale Sch. I, Simple Possession, Poss. Of Drug Para., Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss of Meth, Contraband in penal Institution, Mfg/Sell/Poss. Of Controlled Substance, and Lights Required on Vehicle.

Brandy Baker, 45, Browder Hollow Road Lenoir City, was charged with Criminal Impersonation.

Officer Parmer LCPD, was on patrol when he observed a white Ford F150, bearing TN tag 110BKBL, at the intersection of Hwy 321 and Hwy 11 with its headlights off. Officer turned his patrol unit around and got behind the vehicle, to which the headlights were then turned on, however, Officer observed the passenger brake light to be inoperable. Officer initiated a stop on the vehicle at Y12 Credit Union, 391 Hwy 321 N, and made contact with the driver, identified as 34-year-old Johnathan Morgan, and the passenger, who informed him that her name was Shonna. While speaking with both subjects, Officer observed them to demonstrate nervous behavior. Officer ran both subjects through the Tennessee Integrated Criminal Justice Portal and observed that the passenger did not look like the subject that populated when running the name and DOB she had given him. Officer requested that Mr. Morgan step out of the vehicle, and in doing so, Officer LaForce observed a glass pipe, commonly used for smoking illegal narcotics, with a brownish residue, on the driver's side seat where Mr. Morgan was sitting. A probable cause search was conducted on the vehicle which resulted in the findings of a green silicone container, containing approximately 9.2 grams of suspected Heroin, which was hidden under the carpet on the driver's side, underneath the gas pedal. During the search, officers also located approximately 3.11 grams of suspected Marijuana, 2 scales, multiple "dime" baggies, 1 glass and 1 metal pipe, 2 hypodermic needles, one of which was loaded with suspected heroin, a torch lighter and a cut Dr. Pepper can with burn marks inside. While searching the passenger's purse, Officer LaForce located a Tennessee DL belonging to 45-year-old

Brandy Baker, with a picture matching the passenger of the vehicle. Ms. Baker later admitted to Officer LaForce that she was Brandy Baker and had lied to officers because she was "scared." Officer ran Ms. Baker through central dispatch to which she returned with 4 warrants out of Monroe County. Both subjects were transported to Loudon County Jail

Ryan Scott, 43, Akers Street Maryville, was charged with, Mfg/Sell/Poss. Of Controlled Substance.

Teresa Rogers, 49, Hwy 321 Lenoir City, was charged with, Mfg/Sell/Poss. Of Controlled Substance, and Public Intoxication.

Officer. McGinnisv LCPD, was dispatched to 1111 Hwy 321 N (Exxon), in reference to a suspicious vehicle call. Upon arrival Officer made contact with the driver who stated her name was Popplin. Mrs. Popplin seemed to be acting very erratically, having difficulty walking. Mrs. Popplin stated that her brother had just passed away and that she had been going through a very rough time in her life, but stated that she had not taken any medications or had any alcohol. After further questioning Mrs. Popplin admitted that she had taken Adderal and Xanax earlier in the day but had not taken anything in the past hour. Due to Mrs. Popplin's behavior and my belief that Mrs. Popplin would be a danger to herself if left unattended, Officer placed Mrs. Popplin under arrest for public intoxication. Once placed in the back of his vehicle, Mrs. Popplin began striking the window with her head, along with other body parts. Officer then spoke with the passenger, Mr. Ryan Rogers, who stated that Mrs. Popplin is his wife, and that he was unsure of the Xanax and Adderal, but that she was possibly under the influence of Heroin due to having a history of addiction. Mr. Rogers stated that he did not have any substances on him and that he was unsure if any were in the car, but after further questioning, admitted to there being a presents of heroin in the vehicle. 1.5g of purple powder substance was recovered from the vehicle along with multiple syringes, along with an I.D. revealing that Mrs. Popplin's actual name was Mrs. Teresa Rogers. Mr. Rogers was then placed under arrest for Ma., Sell, Del. Once ran through dispatch via DL number, it was found that Ms. Rogers had 3 active warrants for failure to appear out of Blount County, TN. Officer then transported both subjects to Loudon County Jail. The purple powder substance was deposited in to evidence at the Lenoir City Police Department to be sent to TBI for testing. All the above did occur in Lenoir City, TN.

USERTTeam

Tryouts are held once a year. Hudson said that “the number of open slots is dependent on how many divers we lose during the year, usually due to people retiring, transferring, or leaving the team. Typically, each of the four dive teams will have one to two spots open.”

The tryouts consist of a swim test (laps in the pool) and an underwater skills assessment. “You’ll go down in the water and demonstrate various skills, such as removing your mask and putting it back on, taking gear off underwater and putting it back on, as well as performing emergency procedures in recreational diving,” said Hudson. “A lot of those skills are brought over from when you’re certified to scuba dive.”

Next, candidates must complete an underwater obstacle course and other tasks—all while wearing a blacked-out mask that simulates a real-life scenario where there’s often no visibility. Finally, potential team members participate in a panel interview with current USERT divers.

After completing the above, candidates will learn if they’ve made the team. But even if they don’t, they’re encouraged to try out again the following year.

And while current USERT divers don’t need to participate in the annual tryouts, they must pass an annual swim test, attend at least three quarterly trainings, and complete a minimum of two operational dives each year. “We ask for a three-year commitment, but divers can stay on the team as long as they want if they meet the annual requirements,” said Hudson.

“As you dive in water where there’s zero visibility, sometimes issues come up, and keeping calm and not panicking is the key to staying safe.”

Brian Hudson, supervisory special agent and USERT program manager

Training

Making it through tryouts is just the beginning of the USERT journey—the next step is to “turn qualifying candidates into USERT divers,” said Hudson. “So, you did your recreational diving, but what we’re doing is definitely not recreational diving.”

Trainees go through USERT Basic, an intense two-week certification course that’s held once a year in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. USERT Basic includes instruction in:

- Dry suit diving
- Underwater navigation
- Full-face mask diving
- Dive helmets
- Rescue diving
- Surface-supplied air
- Boat diving
- Emergency oxygen administration

- Public safety diving
- Deep diving

“You start in the dry suit and in the standard AGA facemask and learn the different search techniques we use,” explained Hudson. “As the course goes on, we introduce new equipment and scenarios.

“For example, you’ll have the dry suit and the AGA, but you’ll be learning emergency procedures. Then we start adding metal detectors and then move to surface air supply systems. We also cover things like how to lift a car underwater. When you’re done, you’ll pretty much have touched on and learned every basic piece of equipment we use.”

On the final day of training, USERT stages weapons in a Miami canal, where the trainees must successfully retrieve them. “It’s a dirty environment like they’re going to face once they’re on a real job,” explained Hudson, who also noted that criminals tend to dispose of evidence in places that aren’t easy to search. “We put divers to work. We have one instructor running the dive supervisor role, but the rest of the positions are covered by the trainees. They have to unload and set up the gear, conduct their dive, find the weapons we’ve thrown in, and then break everything down and clean it.”

In addition to these physical and tactical skillsets, Hudson stressed that it’s also important for USERT divers to stay calm under pressure and problem solve: “As you dive in water where there’s zero visibility, sometimes issues come up, and keeping calm and not panicking is the key to staying safe.”

Throughout their careers with USERT, divers have opportunities to learn new skills, including courses in boat driving, SONAR (Sound Navigation and Ranging), and ROV (Remotely Operated Vehicles). Training is also provided to refresh skills and to prepare the team for specific diving environments in conjunction with their assignments—which could range from how to dive under ice to how to dive and swim through fast-moving currents.

“They’re perishable skills, so you need to keep training,” said Hudson.

Meet the Agent: Supervisory Special Agent and USERT Program Manager Brian Hudson

Diving is what I’ve been doing for a while—I’ve been diving since about 2001 when I got certified in PADI, and I worked at a dive shop in college.

I joined the Bureau in 2011. My first office was Miami. Even though I didn’t join the Bureau to become a diver, it was lucky that my first office was Miami because that’s one of the four field offices that has a dive team [USERT]. I wanted a collateral duty and diving was something I enjoyed doing, so it was right up my alley to take the skillsets I had from diving and apply them to my work. It was an opportunity to “do what you love.” The option to dive with the FBI was awesome.

I stayed on as a diver until about 2019 and then spent about two years as a USERT training coordinator. In 2021, I became the USERT program manager. When it comes to managing USERT, I have myself and two other supervisory special agents. We also have a forensic operational specialist who works with us. We manage the budget and act as the focal point for when field offices have requests for jobs—they send the requests to us and then we assign the teams and program training to prepare the divers.

Horoscopes

is the status of your relationship, which could be frustrating for you. Nonetheless, you will learn a lot about your feelings that will enable you to understand each other better. Aries 3/21-4/19

Creative work could require more focus and concentration than usual today, Aries. You might need to do some in-depth research, intricate detail work, or another type of intense process that could strain your eyes and overstimulate your mind. Take breaks. Lie back and close your eyes now and then. Certainly don't forget to eat! By the end of the day, you should be pleased with what you've done.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Some young visitors may come to your home today, Taurus. You could unexpectedly find yourself called upon to entertain them. You don't usually like to be the center of attention, but on this occasion you might enjoy it. You could direct some games or tell a story or two. Whatever you do, both you and your guests should have a great time. Enjoy your day.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Today you might receive intense telepathic communications from someone you don't know very well, Gemini. This might be symptomatic of strong ESP abilities, or it might be that this person is sending out distress signals to everyone he or she knows. If you feel comfortable with the idea, you might try to get to know the person a little better. This person could need a friend right now.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Some intense work you've done in the past that you might have forgotten about could have caught the attention of someone in authority, Cancer. Some long-overdue rewards for that work might come your way today. This should definitely prove a very pleasant and welcome surprise. It could have your mind reeling for a while. Come back down to Earth and then go out and celebrate!

Leo 7/23-8/22

A strange conversation could take place with someone you don't know well, Leo. He or she could be an acquaintance from work or someone who's just arrived from far away. The talk could outline new career possibilities that you've never considered but find appealing. You might spend time thinking about it. This may be different, but these are strange times. If it feels right, look into it!

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Learning is apt to be your primary concern today, Virgo, probably metaphysics, philosophy, history, or some other division of the humanities. You might spend a lot of time in libraries or bookstores or perhaps attend a lecture or workshop. Discussions are likely to follow, and the exchange of ideas will prove stimulating. Take copious notes and enjoy your day.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Some intense conversations could take place between you and a group of friends, Libra. These people may not be close friends when you meet up with them, but by the end of the day some of them certainly could be. You share a lot of interests with these people, you think along the same lines, and you enjoy each other's company. You will definitely see them again.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Today you might concentrate on some very close work, Scorpio, perhaps a drawing or painting, sewing, jewelry making, or creating a new recipe. You may take longer to do this than you normally do, probably because there are a lot of details involved. This is good, because you will be happy with what you do. Take occasional breaks or you could strain your eyes.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

This morning, Sagittarius, you could see nothing but piles of papers that you have no use for. You might go through them like a house afire, wanting to clear out as much clutter as you can. This is always good. A cluttered house parallels a cluttered mind. However, make certain you at least scan each thing before you discard it. You don't want to throw something out you may need later.

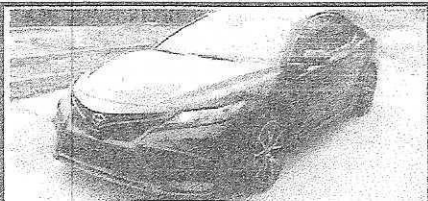

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

A study of a philosophical or metaphysical concept or perhaps an ancient or foreign culture could take up a lot of your time today, Capricorn. Your mind is especially sharp and penetrating now, so you should notice more, learn more quickly, and retain more of what you read. The only downsides are possible eyestrain and a buzzing mind. Take a walk before you go to bed.

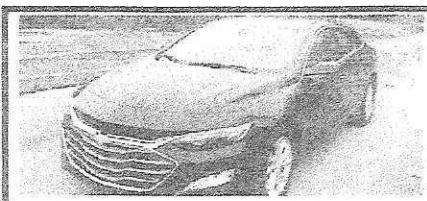

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Today you might decide to host an impromptu party, Aquarius, and a lot of merry and interesting people could attend. You will have a lot of fun, blow off steam, and feel pleasantly exhausted when it's over. Go for it! The only problem is one member of your household might not be up for too much noise. Try to make certain everyone keeps their voices down and don't play any loud music.
