U.S. STI Epidemic Showed No Signs of Slowing in 2021 – Cases Continued to Escalate

Reported cases of the sexually transmitted infections (STIs) chlamydia, gonorrhea, and syphilis all increased between 2020 and 2021 – reaching a total of more than 2.5 million reported cases – according to CDC’s final surveillance data. To reverse this trend, CDC is calling for more groups from local, healthcare, industry, and public health sectors to contribute to STI prevention and innovation efforts.

The new report provides final surveillance data for 2021, and shows that overall in a single year (2020-2021):

Gonorrhea rates increased more than 4%

Syphilis rates surged, increasing nearly 32% for combined stages of the infection

Among the syphilis data, cases of congenital syphilis rose by an alarming 32% and resulted in 220 stillbirths and infant deaths.

Chlamydia rates increased nearly 4%, but – unlike gonorrhea and syphilis – still did not return to pre-pandemic levels

This raises concerns that screening continued to be impacted by COVID-19 related disruptions the second year of the pandemic, because the infection is often asymptomatic.

CDC

From 2020 to 2021, Reported U.S. Syphilis Cases increased from 133,954 to 176,713; an increase of 32%. Source: U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

While STIs are common in all U.S. regions and across all groups, some communities are hit especially hard. The 2021 data show STIs continue to disproportionately affect gay and bisexual men and younger people. Additionally, a disproportionate number of cases were diagnosed among Black/African American and American Indian/Alaska Native people, groups more likely to face social conditions that make it more difficult to stay healthy.

The nation must deepen its commitment to turn the STI epidemic around and prioritize both the increased involvement of multisectoral programs and groups and the creation of innovative prevention approaches and promising new tools. This means:

Rebuilding, sustaining, and expanding local public health services, especially efforts to offer STI testing and treatment programs that respond to the needs of those most affected.

Making STI testing and treatment more accessible, including through the development and approval of point-of-care rapid tests and self-tests, and by expanding ownership for STI testing and treatment to more organizations and settings.

Continuing to advance scientific research and explore new interventions, like vaccines or post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) strategies to prevent bacterial STIs.

Please attribute the following quote to Leandro Mena, MD, MPH, Director of CDC's Division of STD Prevention

"The U.S. STI epidemic shows no signs of slowing. The reasons for the ongoing increases are multifaceted – and so are the solutions. For the first time in decades, we're seeing promising new STI interventions on the horizon, but these alone will not solve this epidemic. It will take many of us working together to effectively use new and existing tools, to increase access to quality sexual healthcare services for more people, and to encourage ongoing innovation and prioritization of STI prevention and treatment in this country."

Horoscopes

that steadily and systematically you can conquer your obligations.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

You can expect to receive some good financial news today, Gemini. Your mind races a mile a minute as you strategize ways to spend the money. If you aren't careful, you will have the money spent before the check has even cleared!

Cancer 6/21-7/22

You might be surprised by how clever and creative you are today, Cancer. Just for fun, you may decide to pick up a paintbrush and try watercolor painting or perhaps writing some poetry. Whatever you attempt, you can be fairly sure that it will work out favorably. Your creative muse is there on your shoulder and waiting for you to make use of her!

Leo 7/23-8/22

Today you feel a tug of war between desires and obligations, Leo. If you're smart about managing time, maybe you can satisfy both. You could be discouraged by how hard you've been working for minimal results. Take heart. You're accomplishing more than you realize. Your strong work ethic is what keeps you from having fun. Everyone needs some downtime. Work hard and then indulge your need to play.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

You need to give yourself more credit, Virgo. When you set your mind to something, no matter how ambitious, you usually accomplish it. Remind yourself of this today, as you may feel bogged down and overwhelmed by obligations at work and home. Pay attention to your finances.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Today you're bursting at the seams with energy and enthusiasm. Your personal and professional lives are going well, so it's no wonder you feel joyful. The only downside is that you may be overwhelmed by work responsibilities. Certainly there's a lot to do, but you're up to the task. Buckle down and put in a last burst of effort so you can enjoy your evening free of guilt.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Take care not to get on a soapbox today, Scorpio. You have strong opinions on everything from religion to politics. You risk offending people if you expound on them. You'd be better off keeping your views to yourself. In fact, rather than try to change people's minds with words, why not try and do it with actions? Set the right example. It's often a more effective form of persuasion.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Friends and money rarely mix,

Sagittarius. Today a close friend may ask for a loan. Think carefully. Rather than take the easy route and say yes, you and your friend would be better served if you helped him or her figure out a way to earn the money. Perhaps you could offer a job or introduce your friend to someone else who can help.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

Today could be filled with delays and mix-ups at the office, Capricorn. You'd be well advised to remain as patient as possible. Take deep breaths and maintain your sense of humor. Most of what occurs today is outside your control. You may as well go with the flow and see where the day leads you. Make a point to relax with loved ones tonight.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

You have big plans, Aquarius, and your dreams may be keeping you from paying attention to

YOUR WORK. DON'T get too stressed.

You've never missed a deadline, so you know that one way or another you will get everything done. In the meantime, begin to make plans for your next getaway.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

It's frustrating when work gets in the way of romance and social activities. This is what you feel today, Pisces. Your thoughts are on your evening and weekend activities, but your obligations are on your desk. Don't despair. Simply make a commitment to do what's expected of you.

Aries 3/21-4/19

This is a good day to make your list and check it twice, Aries. There is room for improvement in the way you organize your life. Your system at home, such as it is, isn't particularly efficient. Your bill paying is haphazard, and you may be surprised by how much you pay in late fees.
